

what you say

it don't matter what you wear i don't care what year your age show me what you have to say paint a picture of your heart buy your ticket ride the ride from the cradle to the grave you don't need to count the days 'cause now there is no time

goes out like a radio it's all just a part of
what you say

eat drink everything you think
what you say

what you say
it's a mystery it's a masterpiece it's all in the art of
what you say

do you walk the walk you talk does the truth stand in your way
do you listen to children silence paints a thousand words what you do is what you say

show me what you have to say how do you see the future what you say goes out like a radio it's all just a part of

what you say
eat drink everything you think it's all just a part of what you say
what you say
it's a mystery it's a masterpiece
it's all in the art of what you say it's all in the art of what you say
